“ We were so sad to hear of Al's illness and his passing. It had to be fate that brought us together when we moved to Florida around the same time. We shared 15 years of good times together, and many hours of fun and laughter. Al loved to play cards and he never let us forget who won the last game. Al was always a good sport and endured a lot of teasing. We considered you both family because you were more than just friends. We will always cherish the good times and the memories we shared together.
