“ When I first met you it was just business but you impressed me because most people don't treat people who sell cars for a living with any sort of respect. You did. Always classy and respectful. You reminded me of a young Brad Pitt but way cooler. Time went on and you came to see me again, again, and again. Awesome. You got shitty with me once and I got shitty right back. After that we became friends. Our relationship changed from customer/salesman to two friends helping each other out. I'd like to say im going to miss you but that would be a lie because I already miss you. I'm not a big afterlife kinda person because I just don't know but if there is I hope you're in a racecar with your Dad. If there isn't then a 100 people got together today to honor you. Love you, and miss you.
