“ I will miss you my buddy. Being your ride along in your brave battle with cancer was my honor. You were so full of life and enjoyed so many things. I loved hearing your stories of vacationing in the Smokey Mountains. The love you had for your children and grandchildren. The happy times when you were up north and your epic fires. Your sass and spunk. You were the only person that ever liked my driving. Pretending not to notice when I ran a red light. We had some good laughs and shed a few tears during your journey. You fought long and hard, now it's time to rest. Love ya, Lynda
