“ Dear Lisa and Family,
We just found out yesterday about your Mother. Susan called and we are sorry we did not know earlier. We would like to extend our deepest sympathy to all of you. I know you have had a very rough few years. I know how close she was with the Lord and that she will now be surrounded with His glorious love and comfort. She was always very kind and warm. We are so sorry. I know words may not help much, but your strong faith in the Lord, will, I am sure, see you through these difficult times. Wishing you all love, prayers and as much comfort possible at this time. Our hearts truly break for you. Love Mom Samko, Marie and John.

“ It hurts to lose someone we love in death. Especially when it is a family member or close friend. The Bible gives us hope. At Isaiah 26:19 says, "Your dead will live. My corpses will rise up. Awake and shout joyfully, You residents in the dust! For your dew is as the dew of the morning. And the earth will let those powerless in death come to life"
