“ I'll never forget the vacations we took, [Oscoda, Caseville] We always had so much fun!!! I remember Sabina and I showed grandma basil our seashells that we collected, and we all sat down by her and picked out the prettiest ones. We later found a big blue one that we gave her, and she didn't stop smiling. I will cherish the memories that I was lucky enough to have with her, and I can't wait to tell MY children about my sweet and beautiful grandma Basil. I know that we are all sad, but its okay!! We are only human!! God MADE those tears!!!! Tears are strength. But we should also be happy. Shes with her beloved Jesus and Mary. And she even got to meet our little flower, Saint Therese of Lisieux!!!! She got to meet my dear brother Luke, and most of her loved ones. But we must have faith, those of you who do know that death is NOT the end. We'll all be together again someday, but for now, we should live life to the FULLEST. I know for a fact that if grandma was here, and we stopped doing what we loved on the count of her, she'd scold us all!! And always remember those memories so we can talk about them when we get up there with her. Also, remember that if she had a choice, she WOULDN'T come back, her last breath here was her first breath home. She is feeling nothing but JOY to be with our Lord.

“ I met Carol only once but she made an impression on my life. I am a volunteer at the hospital and I remember when I walked into her room she gave a big sigh. When in the hospital, there are so many people in and out of a patient's room, one cannot get rest. I told her I could leave but she let me in. Her husband left and Carol and I just talked. It was a brief visit but I heard about her travels to Ireland and the castles that she and her husband visited. She told me she loved reading Agatha Christie and when I offered to bring her a book to read, she said she'd read them all. Beautiful lady. Such a brief visit but she made an impression on my life. She told me I had smiling eyes and squeezed my hand. So thankful to have had that special moment in time with Carol. My prayers go to the family but take solace in knowing that the Lord is shouting, "Hallelujah, you're home!" Barb H.
