

Charles A. Bongiorno

November 9, 1923 - June 3, 2021

Charles A. Bongiorno Passed peacefully away June 3, 2021. He was born in Detroit Michigan on November 9, 1923 to Vincenzo and Maria (Saputo) Bongiorno. Charles married his childhood sweetheart Elizabeth Aurora (Valenti) on June 22, 1946. Together they had three daughters: Rosemarie Werner (Roger Werner), the late Charlene Maurin, and Mary (James) Wyrembelski. Charles was the proud grandfather to Matthew Maurin, Mark (Angela) Maurin, James (Angela) Wyrembelski, and David (Allison) Wyrembelski. He was the great-grandfather to Nathanael, Nicole, Anthony, Luca, Wyatt, Grant, Mica, and another little one on the way. Charles's siblings were the late Grace Zamarion, the late Benedict, the late Anthony, the late Mary Banish, James (Joanne), and the late Felix. He was also the dear uncle to many nieces and nephews. Charles proudly served in the army during World War II. He was proud to be an American veteran.

A private funeral service only. A memorial celebration of his life will be planned later this summer.

“ Loved Uncle Charlie. He always had a big smile for his Family and Friends. He could also be scary. You knew you didn't want him mad at you! The rest of us Zamarion's and Banish's only hope to live as long as and be as healthy as he.

“ Uncle Charley was a disciplined and well respected product engineer at GM where uncle Benny and uncle Jimmy also enjoyed their careers. Following in their footsteps were several cousins and me. Uncle Charley was influential in my career at GM Fisher Body Fleetwood, starting way back in 1965. With his support I began as an apprentice electrician and advanced at Wayne State University as an electrical engineer eventually becoming a senior engineer. Later, I left GM and started my own business. Uncle Charley was my role model, life coach, confidant and guide for my life. I am forever thankful for his wisdom, vision and leadership. RIP, dear uncle Charley! I will always miss you.
