“ Char was my “big sis.” When we were kids we shared a bedroom and after we were put to bed for the night, we would sneak out to the dining room where we could see the TV in the living room. We would inevitably end up laughing out loud and get chased back to bed! Char loved to laugh. As adults we’d meet for lunch and shop the craft sales until there was no more room in our houses for another crafty item! Char was always there for me and I loved her dearly. Still do. Always will.

“ Aunt Charlotte always called me "honey." She helped teach me how to swim and dazzled me with her handstands and pool acrobatics. She bought me my first bottle of perfume and showed me how to put it on my wrists, just enough. She always had a welcoming smile, an infectious laugh and was a bright shining light. Aunts are special people, part Mother, and always a friend, confidant and cheerleader. I am lucky to have had such a wonderful, loving Aunt through all of these years and I shall miss her dearly but I will remember her always and hold her close in my heart.
