“ Nancy:

I was so sorry to hear about your brother. I know it has been a sad time (and those happy ones also) with your brother over the years. There is very little I can say at this time, but I am sure that your faith and Richard will help you and your family.

Take heart in all those who care for you and your family.##imported-begin##Carla Arnold##imported-end##

“ Hi everyone. Hi Michael. I wish I could've stayed for the service, but arrangements were hard to make for coverage in our team. I am so proud of you Michael. Your dad would be too and I'm sure he is. You are a wonderful person Michael, just like your dad. Be yourself, be strong and be there for your mom and brothers. Please come to me or Mrs. Warn for anything at any time, ever!! Not just now, this year, or the next. We're always her for you and your family. God bless.##imported-begin##Kristin Wilson##imported-end##

“ Dear Judy and Family,
I regret that I cannot be present with you today as you gather with family and friends to pray your goodbyes to Chris and lift him up to the Lord at the Celebration of Chris' Life and his Liturgy of New Life.

Please know that you, Judy, your sons and all his family and friends are
In my prayers, especially today as you bond together and bid Chris farewell.
It is a joy and privilege to know you and Chris and be a part of your family.

Be gentle with yourselves as you journey this great loss and void in your lives.

With Love, Prayers, Peace

“ Laurie and I were so sorry to hear of Chris's passing. I got to know Chris through my brother, Craig, back in high school in the 70's. We became very good friends and I valued his friendship very much. Unfortunately, we didn't keep in touch the last several years but I know it wouldn't have mattered to Chris. He would have greeted me with that same genuine warmth regardless of time passed. Chris is one of those special people that I, for one, could never say a bad word about. We will miss him very much.##imported-begin##Chris Vogt##imported-end##
