Letter from God

You are my child and I will always love you no matter what. There is nothing you could ever do or say that would make me stop loving you. There is nothing you have to do to earn this. I will always guide and protect you. You may not always see or feel me, but I am always there loving you.

I will give you strength in times of sorrow or trouble. There is no darkness so deep that my love can not light up.

There is no sorrow so heavy that I cannot carry for you, I will love you, guide you, protect you, fight for you and hold you in my loving arms forever.

“ My deepest sympathies to the Henry family. May you find comfort in the fond memories you've shared together an in "the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our tribulation."(2Cor.1:3,4) And who promises that soon sickness,death, and pain will be no more. (Isa.33:24;Rev 21:3,4) May these beautiful promises from the Bible warm your heart and brighten your day.
Sincerely, Glenda

“ Dave, you were an honorable, noble, generous, quiet, loving man who was the best husband my dear friend could ever have, for which I honor you most of all. I'll never forget that you were an animal "whisperer", too, managing to bond with our various domestic and wild criitters. You added value to the lives of many, who will miss you so very much. Your memory and your spirit will live on in the lives of those who love you.

Sandy, I am so sorry for your loss. I just heard from Reanne and was deeply saddened. It has been a while since I have seen Dave or you, but you 2 had a love that shined through. Dave was a wonderful, caring person and will be missed. May you find comfort and strength through GOD and also in the love of your family, and friends that surround you.

“ Dad where the heck are you? I looked on the couch in your spot and you weren't there. I had a lot of attitude because mom was gone all night. When she came home you weren't with her. I slept in bed with her and I kept lookig for you cause you know mom is not as warm as you and she just won't lay still, It is hard to get any sleep laying on her. She does not understand like you do that part of having a cat is sitting or laying still and being a kitty chair or bed. She is a good petter but different from you and I need both of you petting me. Thats why I run back and forth between the two of you. I really miss you daddy and I love you. I think mommy misses you too cause she is awful sad right now.
