“ Smiles and Laughter
A poem dedicated to the memory of Uncle Doug
By Kelsey Koneczny

Smiles and laughter
That is what you bring
You may be gone
But we will continue
Always singing crazy
80's rock songs
Stuck in our heads
Going on and on
A shoulder to lean on
A listening ear
Making the blues disappear
Waves splashing and rolling
The beach full of laughter
And who's at the center
Within a beautiful moment
So full of cheer
Uncle Douglas of course
The best jokester
You ever will hear
Although you be gone
There's still smiles and laughter
In remembrance of you
And the joy that you bring
Both beginning and after
Enjoy your new home
Up there in the sky
But learn some new jokes
For when we come home to say hi

“ This is for Jerry and Ed. My name is Sue Whitenack. I worked with Jerry at Cloverleaf Restaurant for several years. I am sad for you and your family. I met Doug a few times, and it was my husband Taylor who found out that he was Jerry's son. I remember thinking, of course he is a nice young man, he's Jerry's son. My heart hurts for you. Peace be with you and Doug.

“ My first ever friend, brother I’m literally crushed inside. I’ll NEVER forget you or the Houston-Pitts. I am blessed to have even had you as a lifelong friend. It didn’t matter how freakin down I was, you were always there to show me the bright side of the situation. We literally lost a treasure in you. Love you my brother. 💔

“ Doug had the gift to make everyone smile and laugh usually both I never met such a funny guy in my life I think we're in our late 20s and we painted together me Doug and Jamie so are we pretty well work together on the weekends we hung out it was nothing but fun laughing 🤔. I'm going to share a memory that we had when we're I don't know how old we were I think it was me Doug and Jamie and we went over to Canada did what we had to do had some fun as we're leaving Doug decides he's going to bumper hitch all the way to the Blue water bridge and I think we're riding in Jamie's Acclaim. Yeah he made it to the bridge I think right before the bridge we stopped and everybody around was laughing so hard they never seen such a thing in Canada 🤔. Not that will be missed by many and never forgotten never thought I'd be writing on his wall. RIP brother

“ Most times Doug would call me “his-brother-from-a-different-mother”.
I liked it when I first heard it and I always felt complemented.
I’ll miss you brother but not forever!
Love you Doug
See you soon enough
