“ A year has now gone by and the busyness we are all faced with prevented me from seeing my dear friend during the last few years. But she always called me on my birthday in March, the last time I talked to her was probably March 2017, just a few months before she passed. She was always so kind to me and so pleasant to be around. I wondered for a moment why I didn't get a call on my birthday this year, and now I know. I decided to call today but when I found the number disconnected, I suppose a year too late. But I believe she understands. It was nice knowing she was still here, and I am saddened that she has moved on, one less person to lean on. But glad for her that she has entered into peace, with God, and with family that I know she missed. My condolences to surviving family, but I think we all believe that we will be together again. Again, my condolences to family although a year too late, and regrets that I didn't make time to stop by to see her. She was (and is) a phenomenal and loving person, and is missed. Michael Thomas

“ Here is a women that had a hospitality heart and always created a atmosphere where you just felt comfortable in her presents. She was a gracious women all here life.

I pray the Deeb family take comfort in God's word . He can comfort your mind and heart and grace your needs (Hebrews 4:12 and 4:16)

And for those who are struggling with the thought of God; Colossians 1: 15-19 should give you pause on the enormity of Christ and who he really is...

“ Emilie, you weren't only my favorite cousin, but one of my best friends. Oh how I will miss all the breakfasts, dinners, get togethers, and hanging out on Groveland Street. All the good times and laughter and Big Bang and Golden Girl reruns, all the stories about Aunt Vera and Congress Street, all the parties we all went to, all are going to be sorely missed. I thank God everyday that we were able to have you in our lives for as long as we did. Rest in peace 'Cuz. Save a place for the rest of us.

“ I have never met a better grandmother! I will miss your sweet smile and your kindness. I will never forget the first time I met you back in 1995. I had leather pants on, bright red hair and a nose ring. You told me that you loved my leather pants and my style and gave me a big hug. I'm so glad you are no longer suffering but you will be missed. Love you Gram
