

Galina Jankauskas

December 24, 1917 - September 8, 2008

Galina Jankauskas, born December 24, 1917 in Manchuria to Jonas Plienaitis and Antanina (Litute) Plienaitiniene.

Her father was born in Lithuania and her mother was born in Ukraine. She was married to Feliksas Jankauskas in Vilnius Lithuania on September 8, 1939. She was widowed on November 13, 1991.

She was a teacher in Lithuania. Immigrated to the United States in 1951 from Germany. Became a supervisor in Central Supply at Henry Ford Hospital Detroit. She retired after 33 years of service.

Her calling in life was to help the less fortunate and help the students attain their degrees. She had families who resided in her two family flat while they were going to the University of Detroit or Wayne State University. Some became doctors, business owners, scientists, pharmacists and computer engineers. Was known to them as Mother Jankauskas and was honored on Mother's day, by many past residents even after they left her home and up until her passing away.

Galina Jankauskas is survived by her son; Egidius Jankauskas, his wife Karen, daughter; Regina Tamosiunine her husband Algirdas, grandchildren;

Christina Jankauskas, Mark Jankauskas, Diana Simulyniene and her husband Laurynas, Audrius Tamosiunas and his wife Rasa, great-grandchildren; Paulius and Julius Tamosiunas and soon to be born Dominika Simulynaite.

“ Lovingly I will forever remember my "Tante Galia". With her dedicated husband, Felix, at her side, they helped many people through life's challenges.
Gratefully, I was one of those many people. Her insight and intelligence and guidance are cherished. She was a strong role model for goodness and loyalty beyond race, religion and politics. In remembering them both, I will try to live up to their excellent example.##imported-begin##Mary Hebert##imported-end##

“ Your mom, Eigidiau, was always a lovely , kind person.
She spoke softly and was interested in whatever one said, even if it was a little girl or a teen. I remember her as this. She, probably , influenced me to become a teacher.
Full of praise and compliments she knew how to make us feel better, especially, my mom her friend, Ernute, before she died some years ago.
Our family will always remember, now they your parents and ours meet once again.
Jankauskai and Garliauskai are together.
Our deepest sympathies and love to you.##imported-begin##Regina(Garliauskas) Goebel##imported-end##
