“ Dear Friends: I am sorry that I am unable to attend today. A friend from my prayer group died and her funeral is today. She was a wonderful Irish grandma and I've asked her to find Glenn and fill him up with some of her many stories.

I've also asked my cousin Richard who was an identical twin that died suddenly to meet with Glenn and to pray for your family today and the many days in the future that will be so very difficult for all of you. Be assured of my continued prayers.

God bless you. Cindy###imported-begin##Cindy Wishart###imported-end##

“ To the family of Glenn Yowen,

Just a note to express my sincere sympathy as you mourn the passing of Glenn.

I know there are no words that can truly bring you comfort at this time as only time can lessen the pain. And there is nothing more tragic than to have to pick up the pieces and move on without the physical presence of Glenn in your lives. Please take comfort in knowing that it was never God's plan that we all live forever on earth, but that we be reunited in a better place, at a later date. Glenn may not be with you physically, but he is forever in each of your hearts, as it should be.

All I can offer to you is a poem.

Ascension

*And if I go,
While you're still here...
Know that I live on,
Vibrating to a different measure
--behind a thin veil you cannot see through.
You will not see me,
So you must have faith.
I wait for the time we can soar together again,
--both aware of each other.
Until then, live your life to the fullest.
And when you need me,
Whisper my name in your heart,
...I will be there.*

“ Dearest Bill and Marie,
Only the parents who have endured the loss of a child can truly relate the profound sadness and knowing life without them will never be the same. We feel your pain and sorrow. We feel so helpless not to be able to comfort you both since we are so far away. Linda and I wish we could give you some hope. Hope is not "everything is going to be fine". Hope is more like a deep commitment to the idea that life is essentially good and no tragedy has the power ultimately to rob life of its goodness. It has been almost eight years since our beautiful son died and even today we still expect him to walk thru that door and brighten up our lives. You will see that you will have good days and bad days, right now we are having a bad day reliving that day. We want to make you aware of what is to come, sometimes this grief comes on when you least expect it or you will see him in a crowd. We miss our son so much but we are still grateful to God that we had him for 36 years. Some of our friends were not as fortunate as us. Your health is a priority right now, take care.

We want to see our waverunning buddy again - we will be thinking of you this summer on Lake St. Clair and the North Channel - always your favorite thing to do.
