*Harold, was a former boss and a good man. I was coming out of the military and Harold gave me my first civilian job with Vickers Aerospace. Upon Completion of my first year, I remember asking Harold "Well, how am I doing" and he responded with a smile and "I guess ok since I have not heard anyone complain". Good times with Harold, Cale Merrill, Rodney Wolverton, Clyde Gangawere, Frank Flood, Tony and others at the conferences --Days I will always remember. May God be with you and your family during these times.

“ Harold, was not only a former boss of mind but I considered him a good friend. He had high respect from the many people who knew and loved him. May God give comfort and peace to his wonderful family at this difficult time.

“ This week I lost one of my best friends named Harold W Konke. We met over fifty years ago during an assignment to repair Vickers hydraulic components installed in the Nike Hercules Missile. The friendship that developed then, continued and strengthened throughout the rest of our working lives and perpetuated into retirement years. While Harold has left his earthly bounds, he will always remain in my heart and mind as a friend that I truly loved and admired. During my 40 working years, I always felt that he was my best supervisor out of many. If you knew Harold, you must already know that he loved a good joke. I have memories of many that he told to us. Harold & Rosemary have been married over 65 years and they had a wonderful marriage and family. To be with them was a joy to see the love that they shared. My wife and I grew to love both of them. While Harold is now in Heaven, I will always call him my best friend the rest of my life and will miss our conversations..... God will now look after him,
