“ I’ve only had known Jan a short time. From the first time I entered the doors of TRQ to sew with the Monday girls, we had bonded. I’ve waited a lifetime to have a special friendship with a girlfriend, a BFF. We clicked so fast. We shared many stories & pictures, about our kids, grandkids, parents and yes even husbands. Let’s not forget about Jax! We laughed, cried, cussed & together. One story in particular stands out because it’s funny. I made this quilt put a lot of work into it and I was very upset over it because some of the dark fabric had bled through to the white. I kept saying I was going to throw it away and she got all in my face and said “you’re not throwing it away. If you’re gonna throw it away you’re giving that to me it’s beautiful”. She told everyone I was going to throw it away and she never ever let me forget it, and every chance she got she’d ask “Did you” and look at me with that million dollar smirk, and I say no but...she cut me off and said to me to “get out of your head”! I was tempted many times to send that quilt to her and never did. Now I’ll cherish it forever and always think our friendship every time I look at it! Our friendship was way too short lived , but it packed a world full of memories filled with joy! I am so blessed to have had Jan in my life. I love you Jan and we will meet again on that golden road, thank you for your friendship!
