“ Jay was literally the only person I met at GCH who I still talked to on at least a weekly basis. I'm literally in shock right now, and can only imagine what his family is going through.

He and I both having lived in FL was the spark and we hit it off right away. I already miss getting or sending random nonsense texts to one another at all hours, day or night. We always tried to encourage and be a pair of ears one another.

I'll remember you always, bud.

“ My sincere condolences to Jason's friends and family :(

I really enjoyed staying in touch over the years with Jason; in person back when we could, especially concerts, but especially through social media over the miles that sometimes separated us, as best as we both could. He loved to talk music and share videos of bands we both liked. His passion for music always showed, and I'll never forget that.

I'm also especially reminded of Jason, thinking back on my short time with the Drama program in high school. I kind of stumbled into it my senior year (Class of '93 as well) and was definitely an outsider, considering how long most of the group had been working together.

Jason immediately helped me feel comfortable and not so alone, and on an island. I think he genuinely enjoyed all aspects of our production of "The Crucible" and I truly credit its success, as well as my own, in no small part to the many contributions, positive attitudes, and support of teammates like Jason.

There are a few nice photos of Jason and the production in our yearbook, for those interested.

Also, I've made a donation in Jason's honor to Musicians Without Borders, an organization who uses music as a means to address the needs of societies divided and affected by conflict. If someone from the family would like to share an email address, I'd love to send along the e-card to you. Just let me know.

Peace and strength to all, and Rest in Power Jason!

“ My condolences to the Pasek family. Mr. Jason was a guest at my hotel starting beginning of December 2020 until his unfortunate death on January 6th, 2021. We didn't talk that much as he would only stop down at the front desk to have his keys remade. However, I always felt like something was bothering him. Unfortunately I never got to talk to him about it. It's been bothering me because he has been a guest of mine for a month and I just wish I could've given him some positive words. May you Rest In Peace, sir. God bless.

“ My condolences to Jason’s family. I met Jason in high school, we had a lot of fun in art class. I visited Jason down in Florida when he lived there. I was in Orlando and went down to see him in Clearwater. It was really good catching up with him again. We have been in contact since he moved back to Michigan. I will miss you my friend...

Kind Regards,
