“ Jean, I can't believe I won't see you coming into the office at SVDP any more. You have been a close friend and a mentor to both Irene and me for many years even before SVDP. We learned how to be passionate and understanding to the less fortunate that we serve. We love you and will miss you. Sorry were not there to say goodbye. Dick and Irene Reibold from Albuquerque, NM

“ In 1976, on my sixteenth birthday, Aunt Jean brought me a Peter Max coffee mug, stuffed with Hershey's kisses. I've filled it up again in her honor. Aunt Jean, it was said, could walk into any breakfast joint on the East Side and end up talking with people she knew. But that's probably because so many quietly depended on her at some point in their lives. She was so many things to so many people, but she also was the best aunt anyone could ever have. Heartfelt condolences to all my wonderful cousins and their families. Connie, Lexi, Georgia and I will miss her dearly.

“ Jean and I met when she shared her knowledge about homeless sheltering with Trinity in Clinton Twp. over 30 years ago when we with other churches were embarking on the journey of starting Macomb County Rotating Shelter Team. We shared common interests and became friends quickly. Over the years our interaction would be at benefit dinners and visitations and such; and each time it was a treat. I will always look around when at any public event and expect to see Jean smiling and waving as she always has when our paths would cross once again. I will truly miss her.

“ Jean, It's been awhile since we worked together at St Vincent DePaul, I was hoping we would all get together again soon, but I guess that's not going to happen. So sorry you left us so soon. You are in a better place. I will remember you in my prayers, even though you don't need them, I'msure you have a Free Pass to Heaven.

“ Jean, you made every day better. I adore you. When I told my husband yesterday that you passed, he asked: My Jean? We both love you lady. Between your stories, our laughs, the jokes, the humor, you made life brighter. No one ever left a conversation with you feeling lesser; every person you helped knew their temporary circumstance was a part of their journey. You heard everyone, and your heart always poured through. You would stop everything, pull over, stop the car, when I called. It wasn't just me, you were always invested in all of us this way. I will miss our inside jokes, the BIG laughs, Polish Wednesdays, "diet treats", and every great story - let's face it they were all great. I opened a cabinet this week in the office and saw the pink dogs, and I laughed, I mean I really laughed. I think one of them should be with you. Maybe God could use it with you too (Big Jean laugh). Thank you for sharing your space, for being my cubicle neighbor, for showing me, what you see. I know I could carry on here, and you would let me, because after all I am talking about you (insert your BIG laugh) I know every person who reads this will know that every word is true. Every part of your incredible, vibrant, gorgeous personality that I love, it likely is everything anyone reading this loves too. So sweet Jean, to our red noses, potato pancakes, cider mill pies, stories I will carry and love, to every inside joke, the sparkle in your eyes, for all of it Jean, I love you, love you, love you lady! I promise whenever I hear your humor in this world, I will laugh extra big for you. During this pause, until we meet again, God Love You, and thank you!

“ On our most recent drive up the river Jean asked me to stop to get a drink so we pulled into the McDonald's in Algonac. She asked for a Diet Coke and I told her I was getting a Shamrock shake. She said "what is that?" She had never had a shamrock shake. So I purchased one for her and she absolutely loved it! Jeanie, now in heaven you can get all the shamrock shakes that you wish God bless you and keep you close to his heart! Hug Leslie for me!

“ I was fortunate to have Jean as my sister-in-law for 15 years. Jean was a warm, funny, no nonsense woman. Though we haven't been in touch for several years, there are things that Jean said that I still repeat today. "Freshen up..blow the stink off" is something Jean would say women must do in the spring after a long winter. If I drink champagne from a flute I always think of Jean. She said she was always afraid that her nose would get stuck in the glass. And my brother & sister-in-law to this day remember the HUGE chocolate cross that she made and gave to my brother. He woke his wife up at 2 a.m because he was gnawing on it in bed. I can hardly believe I'm typing a memory for Jean. I'm so very sad. My deepest condolences to all.

“ I am so sadden to hear of Jean's passing. Before COVID we always sat right by her at Mass. She was very proud of her entire family, but we spoke most about her two grandchildren who attended St. Mary. I remember one day when she brought the loveliest heartfelt note from Ben to Mass for me read. Though she did not want him to know she showed me! She was so happy and proud to see Ben coaching basketball for St. Mary. So proud to see the lovely young lady Katelyn had become. She was a very special lady and one who will be missed by so many. As Fr. Mike would say, "You never know how many people you touch in your lifetime." Jean is now finding out how many people she never knew she touched just by being the special person she was. Thoughts and prayers for Jean's family from St. Mary.

“ My heart is broken once again! Jeanie was a wonderful friend of my mom's and my family's. Jeanie sat with me at church every Sunday and would hold my hand and tell me that everything would be OK after my mom passed away 5 months ago! We would also go out to breakfast every Sunday after church and just 4 days ago, after I walked her to my dad's car for him to take her home, she grabbed my arm and looked deep into my eyes and said, "I love you" of course I told her that I love her too, but even though we've told each other that we love each other many times before, this particular time just seemed different, if you know what I mean! Also, our Wednesday lunches will not be the same without her there! Each time you would ask her, "how are you?" She would ALWAYS say, "I'm doing alright for an old lady!" 😍 God, I love that woman! Not sure how I'll make it through church on Sundays! Carolyn, we'll lean on each other! 😭 ☐ 😭 ☐
