“ Anne,
I was so sad to hear the news about your "Jeff" passing away. I hadn't seen you since we talked about deer season coming up. I want you to know that I /we at Cato's are here for you should you need anything. You are very special to us and hope you are doing well. My thoughts and prayers are with you, and I live near by you, should you need someone. Feel free to look me up. My hopes to see you soon.

“ Jeff was an incredible man who gave me his all he loved with all his heart never say the word no to me for anything whether it was clothes, Costco or any type of shopping or whatever I thought I wanted. There are not enough words or time in a day to tell how kind, loving and caring he was. His smile was infectious, and he genuinely cared for all of us. He loved all his family and our boating family and friends. We were never apart always sharing a meal each and every day - no matter what time it was, no matter when I returned from a meeting or shopping run. He was always there to help unload whatever I had at the house, boat or camper. He was a master of the grille and cooked to perfection. Never to hear again Honey I'm home or Hey honey-bunny. We were planning on our retirement to a home north - I am so sorry he will never see his dream as he worked so hard to get where we are. He was the Love of my Life as I was his. He was a Gentle Giant and my protector who saved me. My heart is breaking for you for I will be lost without you and counting the days I see your smiling face again. Till I can hold you again. Forever My Love your Martha, your Pac-A-Lot and you will always be driving Miss Daisy

“ I'll never forget Jeff at Brian and I wedding in the water w a tie on lol. Who ever thought Jeff would be the most formal dressed person at an event?! Jeff's laugh was infectious. He was definitely one of a kind. You knew he was tough but what u didn't know if u just met him is that he was the most genuine, sweet man. It wouldn't take long though because Jeff never met a stranger...not for long. He would talk and joke w everyone. The world was better for him. Cookie we love you and our heart is heavy.
