“Death of a loved one is never easy, you have my deepest sympathy for your great loss. May you find an abundance of comfort in your family, friends and especially the future blessings found in Jehovah God's word. He has promised to swallow up death forever and reunite us with all who fall asleep in death. (Isaiah 25:8, John 5:28,29) As a God of love who cannot lie we can certainly trust all he says to come true. (1 John 4:8 & Titus 1:2) It is my hope that these words and the fond memories of your loved one sustain you through this most difficult time.

“The death of Jerome is ugly and hateful. Never underestimate the power of pray. You too may find that in response to your persistent prayers, ‘the peace of God (Jehovah) that excels all thought will guard your heart and your mental powers.’—Philippians 4:6, 7; Romans 12:12. The help that God supplies does make a difference because he, “comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those in any sort of tribulation.” True, divine help does not eliminate the pain, but it can make it easier to bear. That does not mean that you will no longer cry or will forget your loved one. But you can recover. And as you do, what you have experienced can make you more understanding and sympathetic in helping others to cope with a similar loss.—2 Corinthians 1:4.

“ Jerry was a classmate and a good friend of mine. We had a great time together in high school playing sports and being the officers of the senior class. During high school 5 of us guys, including Jerry, would all pile in my VW bug and head off to school, football practice, basketball games, and whatever travels we took. I will always have great memories of Jerry. My condolences to his family. Louis Filippelli
