“ Life is so precious and too short, not to tell the people who matter the most that you love them. I'm so glad that we lived by that rule, of always saying I love you, with every conversation we had.

Our family was blessed for 11 years to have Joanne, in our lives. She was the only neighbor who made our stay in the neighborhood worth it. We transformed our friendship and soon became family. We laughed, cried, prayed & confided in each other. Santana & Scarlett were absolutely crazy about her & she felt the same. They even honored her with a special name and called her "girlfriend".

As the girls transitioned to school, she made it a point to see us off every morning, by opening her curtains & greeting us with a smile, wave & blowing a kiss our way. Our mornings now, have a huge void without her.

It's never easy explaining death to a child, and my heart broke doing so.

Girlfriend, thank you for being sweet, sassy you. We will never forget you. May you rest peacefully & continue to watch over us, as you did while on Earth. We love you.
