“ Joe had more influence on me than anyone else. I remember him taking me dragonfly hunting in the abandoned gravel pits near the house on Dequindre. He had a terrarium in the basement and an aquarium in his loft bedroom. It was only natural that his love of animals and science would lead him to a career as a veterinarian. He was the best example I've ever known of a 'life-long learner', passionately interested in a multitude of subjects. He was a dear and caring soul who I will miss forever.
