“Margaret, you wouldn't let us call you Grandma but you were the Grandma that I had the longest and knew the best. I already miss our hour long talks on the phone, envelopes in the mail with coupons and pictures in them and every once in a while, a surprise on my front porch. You always thought of everybody else before yourself. Always. Now you are Home with God and Grandpa and hopefully the reunion you had with friends and family was humdinger. I miss you.

*Dear Aunt Margaret,
We knew the day would come when we would have to share you with our loved ones that passed before you. While we are sad, I know they are ecstatic to be reunited with you. We love you and will carry your memory inside us forever. Until we meet again. ❤️*
