“ When I was younger, I would get to spend a weekend once in a while at my grandmas house. I will always remember how she would let me drink Verners in the family room like a grown-up! We would also go outside and throw pebbles in the driveway and watch the bats swoop down. I remember when I was older and came back from college she touched my arm look into my eyes and ask me “how are you doing?” and I always knew she really meant it. She loved us all so well.
