“ My Family lived across from the Ackerman's on Winsome. Mark was my brother Felician's age. When the both of them would ask to do something Mrs Ackerman always said " If Felician can do it then Mark can do it. They always knew how strict my parent's were. I hope Mark can rest in peace now.

This is the famous jeep! I've only heard stories until now. Mark raised young men who have huge hearts.

“ This man is responsible for changing my mother's life by introducing her to true love. He took me in as his son and gave me the best upbringing I could have asked for. He shaped my life considerably and touched many others'. He allowed my mother to take care of my brother and I at home while he worked and studied to provide for us. So few people would do that, but my dad's love was a powerful thing. He was a logical, extremely intuitive man, and upon his discovery of Youtube tutorials and Wikihows, eagerly retained a great lot of information. He was most recently studying the process of isolating metal from components using quite specific measurements and types of chemical reactions. I'll ever forget the mix CD he made for family trips, which included Peter Frampton, Bobbie Brown, Alice Cooper and Eminem; clearly a diverse taste in music (and a damn good one, with that!) Always stoic and strong, but with such a finely tuned sense of humor that he could make everyone smile. He was smiling all the way until the end; still making the occasional cynical joke. For all of this, my dad will forever be my hero. I love you, dad. You were a trooper up until the end, and we are all happy that you are finally in peace.

Brian, that was beautiful...

Such wonderful words, Brian. Ackerman men are a rare breed for sure. They uphold the kind of traits that are wanted in a husband, and father, but rarely found. I'm sure you and your brother are both going to be the love of someone's life just like your dad was. He taught you how to be not just a man, but the best kind of man - an ACKER MAN!

“ I lived next door to Mark from 68-77. I remember he always wanted to play baseball with us up at the school . A great neighbor and friend. .

“ I remember my uncle Mark coming over our house all the time in his Jeep. I was young, and I remember it was so high up and loud. I use to LOVE when he would pull up in that jeep. I could hear him coming several houses away, and would run down the street from my friends house at top speed to see him. I also remember every year on Thanksgiving, Mark would be dressed in his Lions sweatshirt, and headphones, so he wouldn't miss the game. I don't think they ever won on Thanksgiving... until this year. I'm glad he FINALLY got to see Lions win big on Thanksgiving. His smile, laugh, and the way he used to say "Hey good look'n, what's cook'n?" will live on in my memory. I will miss him, but take comfort in knowing I will think of him often upon, seeing a jeep, anything Lions, or hearing a big raspy laugh.

I heard Mark was sick and it was sad news. I grew up with Mark, living a few blocks away. He used to help me set up my magic shows in my basement and was always helping me with any project I happen to be working on. I still have a cassette tape of us making prank calls. it sounds like 2 little girls talking because we were only 14 at the time.

He always made me laugh and was a joy to be around. So many memories of him come flooding into my head. I wish we were all young again living on Winsome Street. We could have McDonald's parties in his garage again and listen to music, or throw dirt clods at the tent when the girls when tried sleeping out in the tent at night.

He wss a true partner in crime...

So sorry for all the families loss...
