“ My memories of my cousin Mickey are ones of many years ago when we were children. At that time, my brother Bob and I would visit our Grandma Morris in her small apartment on Stanley Street in Detroit. Our Uncle Harry and Aunt Margie and cousins Dickey and Mickey lived close by. We would all get together in Grandma's and quietly play together. (haha) Mickey was always a kind, sweet gentle boy and that boy grew up to be a sweet, kind and gentle man. Our lives took different paths as we grew up and we didn't see each other as we grew older but I loved him then and I love him still. I deeply regret not being able to attend his funeral and talk with all our cousins... Rose Ellen and family and Jerry and family..my deepest sympathy on the loss of your brother and uncle.

“ The one thing that I’ll remember the most about Mick was that he was always willing to help out a member of the family. When we first moved out to Dryden, Mick and Dan came out to put the shingles on the barn that we had built. He also came out to help us re-brick the chimney on our house because he felt that my Dad, who was around 80 at the time, was too old to be up on the roof.

After his father had passed away he brought his mother out to our house a number of times to visit my parents. Even after she had passed away, he would continue to come out to visit them. When the health of first my father, and then my mother began to decline, he would come to visit them in either the hospital or the nursing home. I will always be appreciative of the fact that he took time out of his day to do this. Mick will be missed.

The picture I am posting is of my Dad and Mick taken at Jerry’s house when we were invited over for Christmas. - Cousin Ken Dempsey.

“ I don't know how I could possibly choose one memory that I had with Uncle Mick since he was there for me nearly every day for my whole life so far, but I'll give it a shot.

Last winter when he was at heartland nursing home for physical rehabilitation, I made my daily stop to see how he was doing. On my way to his room, I noticed him sitting in his wheel chair with his head down looking rather sad. I approached him and said "hey uncle Mick" he swiftly brought his head up, looked me in the eye, smiled cheek to cheek and opened his arms up for a hug while saying "Matt! Great to see you!" Uncle Mick was pretty soft spoken so his enthusiasm caught me off guard. The way he looked up at me, opened up his arms, and greeted me was so oddly powerful it was a moment I knew I would never forget. It's funny how he played possibly the largest part in making my childhood as great as I remember it to be and a memory like this sticks out the most. I could feel it warming my soul as I sat down to eat with him that afternoon. Uncle Mick was one of the most loving nurturing people I've ever known and I'm so blessed that i had him in my life. I remember knowing that at any time of day I could count on him answering the phone and offering his loving support. I may have thought you lived close before when I had the pleasure of being able to run across the yard to your house to hang out, but now your even closer. Your presence is now with me and everyone your gentle soul had ever loved. I love you Uncle Mick and I will never forget you. You were my uncle, my best friend, my church buddy, and my biggest fan.
