“ Aunt Nancy was always one of our favorite babysitters when we were kids. She was always easy to beat at board games. I especially remember trying to teach her how to play Clue. I think we eventually gave up because we were laughing so hard. I think one of my favorite memories is when she babysat one Halloween and we rigged the basement to be haunted like we saw in an episode of The Brady Bunch. She was always a good sport and thought we were creative kids.
