“ I always looked up to my big-buddy down the street, “Babe” Nardi. I think we met when I was five and he was six. He demonstrated his super strength by picking up a trailer hitch and dropping it on my ankle. Yes, Nello was always on the go, going strong, and always laughing. I’ll never forget his four home runs at Ascension Field Day in, it must have been, 1964. Three went over the outfielders’ heads and one was an infield ground ball. Nello kept running and laughing. That’s the way I’ll always remember him...

“ Dear Sharon & family,

My first memory of Nello is the day Charlie ran away and ended up in our yard. Nello came over to pick him up and what a surprise to find out he was Sharon's husband. Since he & I have shared the same medical problem, I can't tell how deep my sympathy goes. Know that you are all in our prayers.

“ Nello was one of my best childhood friends. We lived across the alley from each other and shared a lot of childhood adventures. Back then his nickname was Babe, I always thought because he was the youngest son. Nello was very loyal to his friends and was quick to tell you what he thought about most everything, Even though I haven't really seen him much these past years, every time we talked I knew our friendship was still solid. He was his own man, respected by everyone, I will miss him.

Our deepest condolences to Sharon and family. We have many, warm, fun memories of Nello and his family. I remember everyone in the gym at St. Clement saying "Hello Nello" when he walked in, and Christmas tree sales for the dads club. I'm smiling as I think of him. Rest In Peace,Nello. “ One of my favorite memories of My Uncle Nello was Christmas of 2000, it was mine and my new husband's first christmas together. Uncle Nello and Aunt Sharon had given us a gift and tied an ornament on it. A snow man groom and snow woman bride. Well Uncle Nello came over to me and said "do ya know the difference between a snow man and a snow woman?" I replied no. He answered "SNOW BALLS " That was his sense of humor.

“ The first time I met Nello I was just getting back from living in Germany for about 10 months. Mom had baked a pineapple upside down cake(my favorite) and saved me the last piece. I was so looking forward to that cake! Nello got to mom's and dad's just after I did and snagged that cake before I could even get a bite! Mom yelled at him, he looked at me and said "you're fat enough already" and ate the whole piece! I laughed my head off (he was right) and we were friends from then on! I'm really gonna miss you Nello! ❤️ ”
