“ We say rest in peace to our loved ones that have passed on.
Even if I plead for my cousin to rest in peace, it's not going to happen.
Instead I'll say be at peace. If you know Pam she can't rest.

She has too much energy and too big of a heart to rest. She has gone above and beyond in everything she did and has always been there for everyone with any need they acquire, with never a complaint. When she reached heaven, she most likely pleaded with God to give her the immediate responsibility to be a guardian angel because she has that protective instinct. I'm sure she put dibs on my great niece that will be entering the world soon.
That little one will be well protected against any harm with the duo of my sister, Lynn and my cousin, Pam.

To my cousins, Tony and John.....
I know how much pain it was for my brothers and me when my sister left us. We know the pain you're feeling and it is a pain like no other.

Who would have ever thought while us cousins were running around having fun in Grandma and Grandpa's basement and playing sports in their yard that we little kids would experience such tremendous tragedies in our future, as losing Lynn and Pam at such young ages.

I know my brothers and I along with you, my cousins would much rather endure all the pain in our hearts from the loss of our sisters than to never have had them in our life. As Pam told me when I lost my dad, where there is great love, there is going to be great grief.

My dear cousin, Pam.....
Oh how I'm going to miss the the fun parties, the exchange of us sharing pictures from past and present, your sangria, your awesome cheese spread made into a shape for every occasion, the reminiscing together of memories we have of our childhood or of your mom and my dad, all the laughs, just texting with you, but most of all I'm going to miss your loud, "HEY CUZ!" greeting along with your hug.

*You were the glue that kept us cousins together.
I promise you, Cuz I won't let that glue dry out.
Jon and I will be here for your brothers, Liz, and Keith.
I love you Pammy!*

“ I met Pam when I worked with her at General Motors. Then I got to work with her again at Quicken Loans. She was fun to be around and had a great sense of humor and was very good at her job. I am so sad to hear of her passing. RIP Pam

“ I met Pam at her first duty station in the U.S. Navy where I had just been assigned as XO. She was only 21 at the time, but wise beyond her years and a great asset to the command. She was a professional and her accomplishments throughout her Navy career and beyond reflect just that. She will be missed.

“ I will forever remember Pam's beautiful garden/yard. She created a serene and colorful yard with a bit of whimsy in each of the places she lived. It was truly a labor of love. We shared our experiences in the Navy and her achievements were awesome. She loved to travel and was very at ease in her adventures. Pam had a gift of being able to make you feel at ease and was a natural hostess. I will miss her for the rest of my days. May her eternal soul rest well until we meet again.
