“ I remember Mr. Gajewski as a wise old man who took care of his family well. He was also an unusually good natured guy, especially after you got to know him. With only a middle class auto worker's income and a clear set of priorities, he maintained a nice house in a good suburban environment, usually had a late model car for the benefit of his family, and purchased a wonderful lakeside cottage for family and friends to enjoy. He was also a staunch supporter of St. Dorothy's Catholic Church. His biggest gift to the world, and that of his wife, was adopting two children that had been born into less than ideal circumstances, and raising them in the best possible environment with ALL their love.

I will miss him, as he turned out to be a bigger part of my life as I was growing up than I could ever have predicted.
