

Raymond W. Sage, Jr.

June 20, 1925 - September 23, 2004

Mr. Sage was a retired music teacher from the Centerline Public School District.

“Mr. Sage Spent his life stimulating students to appreciate their lives and their humanity and now the earth has his light.” according to his son, Ray.

He is survived by his son, Ray E. (Wendy Brawer) Sage and special friend Alice Bentley and is also survived by 3 sisters and 5 nieces and nephews. Predeceased by his wife Redella.

Previous Events

Service

SEP 25. 4:00 PM (ET)

Wasik Funeral Home - Warren
11470 Thirteen Mile Road
Warren, MI 48093
(586) 751-3131
warren@wasikfuneralhome.com

Tribute Wall

“ I had Prof. Sage in the 70's at Busch Jr. High. I will always remember him for saying and writing on our papers "Evidence of Thinking". He engaged us in open forums, to make us think outside of the box. He was always introducing us to the newest sound, or teaching us how to appreciate the old masters... I will always be thankful for him showing us how wonderfully different the person sitting next to you can be!##imported-begin##Jacqueline Batsikouras (Jackie Sucaet)##imported-end##

September 25, 2004 at 05:37 PM

“ Mr. Sage, or Prof. Sage, as he liked his students to call him, was the music teacher for my siblings and me at Busch Jr. High in the 1970s. Through our classes with him, he helped us gain an appreciation for all music and a love especially for popular music. His favorite phrase, "EOT" or "Evidence of Thinking", is still part of my family's vocabulary today. His memory will live on for us in the music we hear and sing.##imported-begin##Therese Marz##imported-end##

September 25, 2004 at 04:22 PM