“ Thinking of you again today, of course. Just remembering last year when you came over the night before thanksgiving to help me cook :) . We had to make a trip to the grocery storr for some coconut and some bisnnesss. We stayed up all night chilling, talking, you told me some crazy stories that night. I was in love with you for a while at that point but that night you made my mom fall in love with you too. You were so good at that, no matter anywhere we went people always loved you lol. You were the coolest person I've ever known, that willl never change. Love you rob, think about u every day. cant wait till I can see those crazy eyes again one day.##imported-begin##...##imported-end##

“ As the days slowly pass by me, i still find myself walking in a fog, waiting to wake up from a bad dream. Robert- you were my love, you changed my life for the better if you knew it or not, I loved you from the moment i seen you and glad you some how found me on "facebook" a year or so later, crazy. i think about you everyday, and every time i see corduroy pants, i think of you. Alot of things remind me of you, everything. I was decorating at work with Christmas decorations, and thought of last Christmas how I made you decorate your whole house! and put lights up outside, you hated it, but you just wanted to make me happy. and always cooking the best breakfast ever in the morning, eggs in a frame, i would never know what that is if it weren't for you. and baking like 12 billion cookies on new years. okay well i could go on and on, but mostly. I Love You Robert, Forever. You were my first and last true Love. I will never forget you and those beautiful eyes. Love, Jaclyn###imported-begin##Jaclyn###imported-end##
