“ We literally grew up together. There wasn't a dinner, event or family function where we did not sit together and just crack up. I truly am sad about losing Wayne. He was like a brother to me.

“ Wayne was a special friend. He always made people happy. I'll always remember his big smile, he was never without it. We shared the ups and downs of our lives and those of others as designers. Wayne "lit up a room" just as he did for all around him. This world is a little darker without him, but we are lucky to have shared it with him.
